

Italian Street Food Festival 2021: let's enjoy in Berlin the best Italian street food from North to South

Arrosticini, caponata, octopus burger, bruschette with “fave e cicoria”, panzerotti, shrimp skewers, arancini, pizza “al portafoglio” exactly like in Naples, porchetta, focaccia with salsiccia, pistachio cannoli, ice cream, granita, bigné... All these specialties and many more will be protagonists of the third edition of the Italian Street Food Festival taking place on July 24th and 25th at the Osthafen Berlin (Alt Stralau 1-2). In 2019 the event attracted over 6.000 visitors which made it the biggest Italian street food event ever organised in Germany (in 2020 the event didn't happen because of the Covid restrictions). This year, for everyone's safety, visitors have to show at the entrance a negative test result and register via Luca or Corona App. Moreover, thanks to the partnership with SumUp, a Berlin company that gives fast and economical solutions for paying by card, at each stand it will be possible to pay contactless.

The event. The festival will host 15 stands and food trucks. Some of the most famous Italian restaurateurs in Berlin are involved, such as Trattoria Muntagnola, Duo Sicilian Ice Cream, Zum Heiligen Teufel, Focacceria San Francesco, Kuchen von Gaia and also a stand coming directly from Frankfurt but offering 100% Apulian specialties (La Frisa Fra). All of them are part of the True Italian network founded by Berlino Magazine. Beside food and drinks, the event will also offer music powered by different Italian djs in Berlin. The entrance will cost 3 € but it's free for kids under 12. While visiting the event you can also participate in an Instagram photo contest with a top first prize: a 3-days stay for two people in the 5 stars hotel Grand Hotel Wagner in Palermo, Italian capital of street food.

The True Italian project. True Italian is a network that aims to preserve authentic Italian restaurants in Germany through its brand, as well as a number of other initiatives and events held throughout the year. True Italian is shaped around all of those people representing Italian cuisine, who show their passion in spreading the culture of “good eating”, starting from the product selection. At the moment over 300 places in Germany are part of the network, most of them in Berlin where the project was born in 2015.
